Addressing the Nation's Primary Care Shortage: Advanced Practice Clinicians and Innovative Care Delivery Models

Primary care is the foundation of the U.S. health care system. It includes the treatment of common conditions, illnesses, and accidents, as well as preventive services and the ongoing treatment of individuals with chronic disease. Effective primary care is the patient's entry point to the care delivery system. It improves quality, outcomes, and patient experience, while coordinating care, containing costs, reducing unnecessary utilization, and promoting use of the proper site of service and efficient use of health care resources.¹

Gaps in Primary Care Access

Access to primary care is a challenge for many individuals with health coverage, as well as the uninsured.

- ▶ Thirteen percent of U.S. residents (44 million) live in a county with a primary care physician shortage, defined as less than one primary care physician per 2,000 people.²
- ▶ Of note, the primary care access challenge impacts rural as well as urban and suburban communities.
 - Rural residents are almost five times as likely to live in a county with a primary care physician shortage compared to urban and suburban residents (38 percent vs. 8 percent).³
 - Yet, nearly as many urban and suburban residents live in a county with a primary care physician shortage as rural residents (21

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the HRSA website with the text "Health Resources & Services Administration" and "Explore +". Below this is a search bar with a magnifying glass icon and the text "Search Text Box" and "Advanced Search". A horizontal menu contains links for "Scholarships", "Loan Repayment", "NHSC Sites", "Job Search & Provider Recruitment", and "About NHSC". The main content area features a breadcrumb trail: "Home > Scholarships > NHSC Scholarship Program Overview". The title "NHSC Scholarship Program Overview" is displayed in a large, bold font. Below the title, a paragraph states: "The National Health Service Corps Scholarship Program (NHSC SP) awards scholarships to students pursuing eligible primary care health professions training. In return, scholars commit to provide primary care health services in Health Professional Shortage Areas \(HPSAs\)." To the right, a "Contact Us" box provides the phone number "Call 1-800-221-9393 (TTY: 1-877-897-9910)", the hours "M - F, 8:00 am - 8:00 pm ET (except federal holidays)", and links for "Email us" and "BHW Customer Service Portal".
